

Word Quilt

Directions: Each week, in a block, write the examples of dialect printed in bold in the published chapter of Jack and the Fire Dragon. Try to figure out the meanings. Then check the definitions in the glossary at www.ncpress.com, click on NIE and then Jack.

Add color and art to make your quilt beautiful.

	 JACK AND THE FIRE DRAGON <small>retold and illustrated by Gail E. Haley — winner of Caldecott and Kate Greenaway awards</small> The book cover features a black and white illustration of a man in a hat and coat standing on a rocky shore, looking towards a large, scaly dragon breathing fire. The dragon is on the left, and the man is on the right. The title 'JACK AND THE FIRE DRAGON' is written in a stylized, serif font. Below the title, it says 'retold and illustrated by Gail E. Haley — winner of Caldecott and Kate Greenaway awards'.

Follow-Up: Make other word quilts. Invite someone to tell you a story. Invite someone to read a story or comic from the newspaper. Choose colorful words and phrases from stories you hear.
